"IYENS & POND PIANO CO.: Gentlemen—I have carefully examined your upright square piano and am pleased to say that I consider them to be thoroughly well made and excellent instruments in all respects. They please me so well that I have ordered fifty of them for use in the New England conservatory of music. Yours truly, E. Tourjee." Geo. A. Ainsworth, Williamstown, Vt., has just taken a general agency for these pianos, and invites correspondence.
We have now arranged for the sale of the Mason and Hamlin organ; also the Palace, Shoninger, New England, Sterling and Smith American organs, and the H. T. Miller Vose & Son, Emerson, Wheelock, Hallett & Davis, Graves & Pond pianos. Special rates for the next sixty days to cash customers. Also sold on easy monthly payments at the Capital Organ and Sewing-machine Rooms, South Main street. Address all orders to J. P. Donovan, Montpelier, Vt. Remember the address.

MAP AGENTS and all others wishing profitable employment will find it to their interest to call at J. MORRISON MURRAY'S MAP AGENCY at Mrs. Hibbard's, opposite the court house. Mr. Murray himself is at the Pavilion for a few days and has fine new maps of Canada and also of New England, with which agents can canvass all of Vermont again as successfully as before. He is the only map publisher who protects his agents. And agents going away to work on any other map are liable to find their territory all worked and lose their time and money. There are whole counties and hundreds of towns near you that have not been canvassed in which agents can make more money than ever before. No agent can conscientiously say he is selling the best map when he is selling any other. Nine agents out of ten who try other maps are glad to come back to ours, as they do every day. For further particulars see other papers and special circulars.
THE sporting fraternity have been excited by the wonderful speed of "Maud S." and "Al-dine" hitched together and driven by Mr. Vanderbilt, the owner, at Fleetwood park on Friday last. Mr. Vanderbilt made a mile in 2:15, said to be the best time on record in double team trotting. The circumstances were somewhat unfavorable for rapid time. The mares were drawing four hundred pounds, the weight of driver and wagon, and were otherwise impeded. "Maud S." is considered by her trainer equal to a mile in two minutes with a running mate. He thinks she can make 2:05 under the saddle, and can beat her own time of 2:10 in harness.
THE BRADFORD listers have been indicted for offenses against the listing law in 1881 and 1882 and will have their trial at the next term of Orange county court.
This year is the one hundredth anniversary of the settlement of the town of Cabot and at a meeting of the citizens, held last week Wednesday, it was voted to hold a celebration of the town's centennial on Fourth of July.
THE Caledonian suggests that a guardian be appointed over A. J. Willard. To an outsider, it has seemed as though Willard had about as sound a head as any one in St. Johnsbury, and had shown good reasons for his actions.
OUR Tunbridge correspondent informs us that complaint has been made to State's Attorney J. K. Darling, of East Corinth, of the outrage mentioned in the WATCHMAN of last week, and the matter will doubtless be investigated.
It is rumored that Harris of the Index does not find his efforts to reform St. Johnsbury very heartily reciprocated, and that he is soon to retire from the publishing business. This will give Chase of the Union his hands full to keep things straight in that section.
Some liquor was seized at one of the Barton hotels and a part, which was considered unfit for use in the town agency, was hidden in a loft. Some fellows with a keen scent for liquor stole it and the Monitor offers to give them free obituary notices when the stuff takes effect.
It is reported that the Southeastern railway of Canada has been purchased by the Canadian Pacific and that the road will go into the hands of the new company the 1st of July. The Southeastern system is three hundred miles long and the acquisition of the road will give the Canadian Pacific a New England outlet via New York, Vt.
THE Poulney Journal tells a serious story about J. M. Haven, the proprietor of the Bates house at Rutland, claiming that he has been largely over-leasing Rutland railroad stock, a big proportion of which he sold to Charles Clement, who is said to have bought for the purpose of ousting John B. Page from the presidency.
THE district stewards of the Methodist churches in the Burlington district have appointed the Hon. J. V. Carney, Rev. M. Hubbard, Rev. J. J. Noe, L. Howard Kellogg, Ira Russell, M. D. Jump and D. R. Lowell a committee to prepare a statement of matters connected with the boundary difficulty between the Troy and Vermont conferences.
THE National Car Company have recently chosen the following directors: Lansing Mills, James R. Langdon, Jo. D. Hatch, M. Hall Stanton, Gilman Cheney, Herbert Brainerd, E. Curtis Smith. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. Mills was elected president, F. S. Stranahan of St. Albans, secretary and treasurer, and Hon. J. D. Hatch of Burlington, auditor.
SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN: "Green Mountain rascals are this week opening their eyes at the style of the Dwight-Wiman coaching club of New York and Toronto, who have invaded the state with their coach and six, for the first time. They wear shiny velvet coats, and there are Vermonters unopposed enough not to see the advantages of their equipment over Foreign chariots." Thus does the Republican poke fun at its neighbors.
ARRANGEMENTS have been made for a new fast train between Chicago and Boston, over the Grand Trunk and Central Vermont roads, by which the time will be reduced to forty hours, three hours less than the present running time. Going east, this train will leave Montreal about 7.30 p. m., arriving in Boston the next morning. Going west, it will leave Boston in the evening and arrive in Montreal about noon. This arrangement will probably begin next Monday.
THE court at Woodstock has overruled the motion to set aside the verdict as to four of the respondents charged with assault with intent to kill upon Mr. Barrett at Windsor and pronounced sentence as follows: William Gallagher, seven years in prison; Edward Gaffney, six years; John and Frank McCollison, one month imprisonment and a fine of $250 each; Frank Gallagher, one month imprisonment and a fine of $150; George Field, two years in the house of correction.
A BRATTLEBORO man, G. W. Parker, has invented a new musical instrument which he calls the "clariphone." It is a combined guitar and harp, having eighteen strings, and is said to possess great volume, range and flexibility. It imitates a great variety of instruments and can be thrown into any key by turning a single knob. Mr. Parker has constructed a model of four hundred and eighty-four pieces of different varieties of wood, and has applied for a patent.
THE managers of "The Country Week" of Boston desire to send another bevy of boys and girls who need fresh air and good food into this vicinity this summer. They hope that those who entertained their little charges last year shared the children's pleasure so fully that they will open their doors to the poor again this season, and that others will join in the good work. Rev. J. Edward Wright of this village would be glad to hear from any who are disposed to assist.
EDWIN DILLINGHAM POST, Grand Army of the Republic, Waterbury, proposes to fel-

Current Mention.

LIQUOR seizures are being made at Burlington. SOME hard and soft wood is wanted at this office in payment for subscription.
A MASS temperance meeting will be held at Lyndonville on the Fourth of July.
The annual meeting of the Central Vermont railroad company occurs at St. Albans to-day.
The annual meeting of the American Institute of Instruction will be held at Fabyan's, White Mountains, July 11-13.
H. C. MEAKER of Duxbury visited his son Almon at the state prison last week for the first time since his confinement there.
WHEN you come to town Friday to see the circus, it will be an excellent plan for you to pay what is due on your paper. Please remember it.
The proposed removal of Lewis college to Brattleboro is still undecided, and will probably remain so until Colonel Estey's return from Europe.
The new rules for legal practice recommended by the State Bar Association are being adopted by the various county bars and will probably go into effect soon.
The friends of the Vermont Methodist Seminary have been highly gratified by the gift of $1,000 to that institution by Judge Samuel Plumley of Albany.
THE Bradford listers have been indicted for offenses against the listing law in 1881 and 1882 and will have their trial at the next term of Orange county court.

low posts in this and adjoining towns to unite in a basket picnic at Waterbury by way of celebrating "the glorious Fourth." The idea is warmly received and will probably be carried out by the posts. It is a good one, and we trust the suggestion of our Waterbury friends will meet with a hearty response by soldiers and citizens. Speaking and fitting exercises will be arranged if the picnic comes off.
The blackmail case against H. W. Love of Rutland was concluded Saturday. One Woolley claimed that Love extorted money from him by threatening to prosecute him for selling liquor. Love admitted taking money, but claimed that it was simply to establish a connection with the business, which Woolley denied. Love said that all his doings were for the knowledge and approval of the Rutland prosecuting committee. The grand jury investigated the affair last fall and failed to find a bill, Justice Bailey holds his decision in reserve.
BENNINGTON claims the honor of holding the first midnight court in Vermont. On a recent Sunday Dennis Keefe of Hoosic Falls, N. Y., came to Bennington, got intoxicated and was put in jail. Keefe was afraid he would lose his situation if his spree was known, and a friend offered to pay his fine and costs, but the jailor had no discretion and a court could not be held on Sunday. Finally Justice Keyes offered to try him as soon as the clock struck twelve. Accordingly the prisoner was brought into court at 12:01 and heavily fined. His friend paid his fine and the affair was not heard of by his employers.

DARTMOUTH commencement comes next week. The following is an abstract of the programme: Sunday, 10:30 a. m., baccalaureate by the president; 8 p. m., address by Rev. C. D. Barrows of San Francisco; Monday evening, prize speaking; Tuesday, 10:30 a. m., graduating exercises of the agricultural department; 3 p. m., class day exercises; 8 p. m., graduating exercises of the Chandler Scientific Department; Wednesday, 10 a. m., grand reunion of alumni with addresses, continuing through the day; Thursday, 10:30 a. m., commencement exercises. Hon. John Wentworth of Chicago and other prominent graduates are making special efforts to have a large and interesting meeting of the alumni.
The following is the programme of commencement week at Goddard Seminary, Barre: Sunday, June 24, sermon before the graduating class at 1:15 p. m., by E. H. Capen, D.D., of College Hill, Mass. Monday, June 25, morning, examinations; rhetorical exercises of junior class at 2 p. m.; senior concert by Blaisdell's orchestra at 7:30 p. m. in the town hall. Tuesday, June 26, morning, examinations; alumni exercises at 2 p. m.; address by T. B. MacDonald of Mayport, Florida; essay by Miss Lizzie A. Martin of Barre; evening, at 7:30, prize speaking by seniors and juniors. Wednesday, June 27, exercises of graduating class at 10 a. m.; annual address at 2:30 p. m., by Rev. C. E. Nash of Newtonville, Mass.; evening, reception of teachers and class.

The principal points of commencement at Burlington next week are as follows: Sunday, June 24, baccalaureate discourse by the president; Monday, three p. m., address on the late Hon. George P. Marsh by Professor Samuel G. Brown of Dartmouth college; Tuesday, two p. m., unveiling of the statue of Lafayette and dedication of the new college building; Wednesday, eleven a. m., commencement exercises. Professor Brown's address, which was recently given at Hanover, is very highly spoken of. The exercises on Tuesday afternoon are expected to be very imposing and interesting. Many distinguished gentlemen have been invited. The statue will be unveiled by the sculptor, J. Q. A. Ward, and Judge J. A. Jameson of Chicago will deliver the principal address.
The appalling consequences of a western cyclone should be seen to be appreciated. Inspired by a desire to give his friends a "graphic" if not a realistic conception of the awful havoc wrought by these elemental disturbances, a former resident of this village sends to a friend here a copy of the Sunday Graphic, portraying Kansas City's late bout with the storm fiend. The "fiend," surrounded by inky blackness streaked with chain lightning, in the shape of a rufabags is descending upon the doomed city. Trees and vehicles are flying through the air and a stone building is going to pieces beneath the point of the gyrating vegetable. The streets are filled with debris and a single individual, undeniably wrestling with the "jim jams," is sole spectator of the ruinous scene. "Just as it appeared, of course!" is "Put's" endorsement of the accuracy of the engraving, and the work of art is cherished accordingly.

"W. C." of Middlesex writes as follows concerning the measles: "This contagious and loathsome disease seems to prevail in all parts of the state. It is not about time that the people were warned to be more careful about spreading it among their friends and neighbors. It costs a good deal to have this disease run through a family at any time, and at this busy season among the farmers the tax is a severe one to say nothing of the danger, suffering and discomfort of the ones afflicted. It seems to be a generally accepted opinion that everybody must have the measles sometime. But I do not see the necessity any more than in the case of small-pox, cholera or other contagious diseases. If those who have the disease or have been exposed to it would only be reasonably careful, its spread might be stopped to a great extent; and if they will not, let the strong arm of the law be used to make them careful. If we have not a law for this case let us make one."

The grand jury of Caledonia county has indicted J. N. Gale, formerly superintendent of the St. Johnsbury water works, for embezzlement. No bill was returned against Leighton, who stabbed Heath at Barre recently. This refusal to indict would seem to indicate a belief that Heath was the aggressor. Judge Judvine of Hardwick seems to have just as poor luck using the law as in trying to make it. The Index thus reports: "The case of A. E. Judvine of Hardwick vs. Dr. Weeks of Walden was tried Tuesday. In this case one Frank Williams failed, and some property was attached and bid off at sheriff's sale by Judvine. Some of the property was afterwards bought of Williams by Weeks, who claimed that the attachment and pretended ownership of the property by Judvine was fraudulent. Judvine, however, maintained his grip on the property under a claim of ownership, and sued Weeks in trover for trading with Williams and taking the property away. The only question seemed to be whether Williams and Judvine colluded to defraud the former's lawful creditors. The jury evidently concluded that the trade between Williams and Judvine was not a bona fide one, and returned a verdict for the defendant."

ALEXANDER D. PIERCE, who lived in Orford, N. H., just across the river from Fairlee, committed suicide last Friday night by cutting his throat. He has been subject to odd spells, bordering on insanity, and was doubtless crazy when he committed the act. On the night in question he rose from bed about eleven o'clock with the remark that he was going to do something for his wife, who was ill, and passed out into the next room. Mrs. Pierce, fearing something was wrong, sent her boy out to find him and the little fellow returned with the statement that he thought his father was dead. The son was sent to a neighbor's for help and investigation showed that Mr. Pierce had gone out into the back yard and deliberately cut his throat with a razor, making seven terrible gashes and severing the windpipe in two places. The deceased was a kind hearted man and a worthy member of the Methodist church at Fairlee. The funeral services occurred at his late home on Monday, Rev. T. P. Frost of Bradford officiating.

The forty-ninth annual commencement of the Vermont Methodist Seminary began last Sunday with the baccalaureate sermon at Trinity church by Rev. A. H. Wyatt, pastor of the University church at Middletown, Conn., his theme being "Final Sonship in the Divine Image." The sermon was listened to by the large audience with the closest attention and elicited the highest encomiums. The principal's reception to the graduating class occurred on Friday evening. Besides the class, the faculty and invited guests were present, and the occasion was one of great interest. The examinations took place on Monday and Tuesday, and were highly satisfactory to the committee. On Monday evening occurred the piano recital by Professor Hadley and pupils, assisted by Mrs. Corinne Maud Cleveland, the celebrated soprano. The large audience and the close attention showed the appreciation of Professor Hadley and his work and the frequent applause and encore showed the delight of the audience in the various renderings and especially in the songs of Mrs. Cleveland. The faculty have been very fortunate in securing her as teacher in vocal culture the coming year. Below is a programme of the recital: Piano quartette, Misses Spaulding, Whitney, Kinsley and Bates; piano solo, Miss Hall; piano duet, Miss Daley and Mr. Hadley; song, "The Last Rose of Summer," Mrs. Cleveland; piano solo, Miss Daley; piano solo, Miss Newcomb; piano duet, Miss Haldsted and Mr. Hadley; piano trio, Misses Wyman, Haldsted, and Mr. Hadley; Galop Militaire, Miss Lane; piano solo, Miss Newcomb; piano duet, Messrs. Wilder and Hadley; piano solo, Miss Daley; song, "Ye Merry Birds," Mrs. Cleveland; piano solo, Miss Hall; piano duet, Miss Daley and Mr. Hadley. Last evening an address was delivered before the Ethical society by Rev. J. W. Hamilton. To-day will occur the class day exercises, this evening prize speaking, and to-morrow the graduating exercises. A report in detail will be given next week.
